CAPE COD COMMERCIAL
FISHERMEN’S ALLIANCE
Small Boats. Big Ideas.

ANNUAL GRATITUDE REPORT 2021
Mission
The Cape Cod Commercial Fishermen’s Alliance is fishermen, community members, public officials and scientists working together to build creative strategies, advocate for improved marine policies, protect the ocean ecosystem, and ensure the viability and future of Cape Cod’s fisheries.

Vision
Cape Cod Commercial Fishermen’s Alliance is the voice of Cape Cod’s fishing community, working to ensure our future livelihood within a balanced ocean ecosystem.
Dear Friends,

As we head toward a more normal existence, I have heard people talking about the pandemic as lost time. I don’t see it that way. Despite challenges, I am thankful for what we gained—much of the credit goes to the local fleet and our community. In the following pages of this report, you will see that Fishermen’s Alliance did more than survive. We thrived. In 2021 we strengthened programs and services.

Our Small Boats, Big Taste haddock chowder gained national attention and I was able to highlight its importance for fishermen and food banks when United States Senator Ed Markey visited the Chatham Fish Pier, and again when I was invited to testify in Congress on fisheries legislation. Those moments, and others, helped jump-start a national reckoning that regional food systems need more support. That starts with direct links between producers and consumers, links we have in spades.

We helped produce a statewide, comprehensive port study, which highlighted that our small ports have huge impacts. The catch brought into local ports was worth close to $75 million in direct reimbursement to fishermen—$20 million more than the robust harbor of Gloucester. And that big Blue Economy number does not include economic value provided by shoreside support, such as ice, bait, fuel, gear, and boat repair. Common multipliers that account for this additional economic impact range up to four times the value of landings. That’s something to be thankful for.

We celebrated the magnificent catch by publishing our Pier to Plate cookbook, highlighting local fish, small-boat fishermen, and the delicious recipes of chefs across the region.

Our second Fishermen Training Program was a success. We are hoping to build on that momentum with additional training and expansion of our partnership with Cape Cod Regional Technical High School, which will introduce future business owners to a sustainable and growing industry.

We have new, enthusiastic board members and we also have more fishing members joining our ranks (as many as can remember since I became CEO).

Commercial fishing is a risky business, which is, in part, why the organization was formed by fishermen 30 years ago. We serve as their support and are here to assist small-boat fishermen however we can.

Last year demonstrated that small boats, resilient communities, and people who care about them can do big things. The growing positivity around our industry makes me want to double down on our efforts.

Thanks for helping us do just that.

Smooth Seas,

John Pappalardo, CEO

CELEBRATING 30 YEARS. NAVIGATING 30 MORE.

A History of Accomplishments

The organization was formed out of crisis. The fishermen were concerned their livelihoods were at stake with the threat of fish depletion, fishing regulations that were not aligned with the reality of what they were seeing on the water, and the need to better organize to become part of the solutions to the challenges they were facing.

THE FOCUS WAS ON:
» Building a name for the Cape’s small-boat fishing fleet
» Advocating for habitat protections
» Filing a lawsuit against the federal government for not doing enough to protect habitat
» Working to amplify fishermen’s voices in front of the local, state and federal regulatory bodies
» Campaigning for a seat on the New England Fishery Management Council
» Establishing a 501(c)(3) status as a nonprofit organization, The Cape Cod Commercial Hook Fishermen’s Association

SECOND DECADE: 2002-2012

The original group quickly grew and became a well-respected organization that started identifying challenges and searching for solutions that balanced the needs of small-boat fishermen with sustainable stewardship of the ocean. The organization became very active in policy work during these years, organizing fishermen advocacy campaigns and holding seats at decision-making tables.

THE FOCUS WAS ON:
» Leading valuable cooperative research projects on fish populations
» Pioneering the use of sustainable hook and line gear to target abundant haddock in a previously closed fishing area
» Representing local fishermen as a voting member of the New England Fishery Management Council and the Massachusetts Marine Fisheries Advisory Commission
» Piloting the Sector Model to give communities control to manage annual allocations of fishing quota
» Forming the Fisheries Trust to purchase fishing permits, ensuring Cape Cod fishermen have access to the fishing quota they need and preserving the right to fish for future generations
» Growing the organization’s staff, diversifying revenue sources, and securing permanent space at the Captain Harding House
THIRD DECADE: 2013-2021

Fishermen’s Alliance has become an indispensable resource for Cape Cod’s fishing community. We are now the leading commercial fishing organization in New England and are a nationally recognized leader in advocacy for both fishermen and the marine environment. With a proven record for driving change and forward thinking, we were able to help implement lasting solutions to challenges, develop innovative programs, and provide valuable resources to the fishing industry.

THE FOCUS WAS ON:

» Broadening the mission to include all gear types and fisheries, and changed the name to Cape Cod Commercial Fishermen’s Alliance

» Investing in A.R.C. Hatchery to support the shellfish community

» Strengthening community engagement and education – developing outreach programs like Meet the Fleet, Pier to Plate, shellfish curriculum, and publishing a seafood cookbook

» Expanding leadership roles by securing a seat for a staff member on the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission

» Leading the development of a regional Electronic Monitoring Program for groundfish, to improve accountability and provide fishermen with a more flexible and safe monitoring option

» Developing a Fishermen’s Training Program to recruit and train new crew

» Securing passage of the Young Fishermen’s Development Act

» Protecting forage fish in near shore waters, securing a zone from the beach to 20 miles offshore that removes the industrial-sized midwater trawl boats that deplete our inshore fishery and herring runs

» Organizing the creation of the first ever Massachusetts Shellfish Initiative Strategic Plan

» Launching Haddock Chowder Program, “Small Boats, Big Taste” that went on to deliver close to a million servings of chowder to regional food banks
Leadership for Fisheries Management
Policy, Advocacy, and Fishermen-Driven Science

DEVELOPING SUSTAINABLE SOLUTIONS BY BRINGING FISHERMEN’S KNOWLEDGE AND EXPERIENCE TO THE DECISION-MAKING TABLE

In 2021, Fishermen’s Alliance staff spent more than 200 days at regulatory meetings advocating for the fishermen of Cape Cod and taking part in the regional fisheries management efforts that span the entire east coast. Our time spent at various decision-making tables and navigating sensible policies allows the fishermen to spend their valuable time on the water.

KEY PROJECTS AND TOPICS
Staff members work tirelessly each year on a variety of fishery management and fishermen-driven science projects. In 2021, focus included protecting the marine environment, advancing technology on fishing boats, and securing access to the ocean from the Cape’s ports.

For example, Fishermen’s Alliance:
» Secured electronic monitoring as an option for groundfish fishermen to meet at-sea monitoring requirements, and transitioned Electronic Monitoring from a pilot program to an operational program
» Designed a new fishermen’s data portal, creating easier access to important information
» Conducted a global survey of electronic monitoring programs to develop recommendations for how to best incorporate Electronic Monitoring data into stock assessments
» Ensured that dogfish were exempt from the recent federal shark protections and prevented catastrophic trip limit increases
» Helped secure the state’s Division of Marine Fisheries Shellfish Advisory Panel, ensuring local representation for developing solutions to shellfish issues
» Supported collaborative work with fishermen and scientists on a regional program to deploy water temperature sensors known as Environmental Monitors on Lobster Traps (eMOLT)

POLICY ON THE WATER
In 2021, Fishermen’s Alliance and 30 scallop fishermen members successfully campaigned for the New England Fishery Management Council to retain exclusive access to Closed Area I (an area protected by limited fishing) for the small-boat fleet and fishing trips that fund scallop research.

Closed Area I is an ideal solution for the Cape’s scallop fleet because it is within a safe distance from the shore for small-boat fishermen. And, their fishing in this area is still within sustainable fishing limits.
TRAINING THE NEXT GENERATION OF FISHERMEN

After six years of advocating in D.C. for the need for funding to train fishermen, in 2021, the Young Fishermen’s Development Act passed into law. The Fishermen’s Alliance Fishermen Training Program held its second in-person training session in 2021 as well as multiple workshops with local high school students that reached more than 45 individuals. Participants hear from seasoned captains about their at-sea experiences, learn about fishing as a business, and participate in safety training both in and out of the water.

THE CAPE COD FISHERIES TRUST

The Trust was founded with a vision of ensuring that small-boat fishermen would have affordable access to groundfish and scallop quota. When management of those fisheries shifted to “catch share” systems, a group of fishermen collaborated with the Cape Cod Commercial Fishermen’s Alliance to create the Trust. The Trust acts as a quota bank from which local small-boat commercial fishermen can lease quota at discounted rates. Working together with the Community Development Partnership, the Cape Cod Fisheries Trust offers financing, business planning, and technical assistance to fishermen who want to grow their own business.

In 2021, the scallop program leased 126,050 pounds of subsidized scallop quota to 13 local fishing businesses. The groundfish program leased 283,456 pounds of subsidized quota to seven Cape Cod fishing families and operations as well as to other fishermen around New England. Species leased out include hake, cod, haddock, and smaller amounts of groundfish like dabs and flounder. The 2021 Trust leasing produced $4,048,692 worth of landings. We also transitioned several scallop qualifier permits back into the local community, jump-starting new fishing operations.

What is quota? Fisheries scientists determine the amount of fish that can be caught each year while still leaving enough in the ocean to support our ecosystem. Then the government gives each fisherman access to catch a share of that annual limit.

What is a catch share system? In a catch share system, quota is allocated to different permits. While fishermen already have their own permits with various amount of quota, they often need to lease or purchase additional quota to maintain a sustainable and profitable small business.

THE CAPE COD FISHERIES TRUST
We Invest in Fisheries to Provide Opportunities for Today’s Fishermen and Future Generations

THE 2021 ACCOMPLISHMENTS
Community Outreach

We bring fishermen and the community together to promote local catch, create a better understanding of the industry, and engage the younger generations.

Haddock Chowder: Small Boats, Big Taste

The Haddock Chowder Program was conceived of during the first few months of 2020 in response to the pandemic. The program reached its highest goal by mid-year 2021 with close to a million servings of haddock chowder distributed to regional food banks. The program had a two-part goal: to help independent fishermen continue to work catching haddock at a fair price; and to supply regional and national food banks with a nutritious, delicious haddock chowder. Through the ongoing support of donors and partners, the program continued to grow last year and is projected to continue into 2022. The Fishermen’s Alliance team also spent time last year exploring new options for other seafood products—stay tuned for more information!

From the Pros—Seafood Cooking Tips

We were proud to release our first cookbook in July, Pier to Plate – A Cape Cod Recipe Book, Celebrating Local Seafood and the People Who Harvest It. Fishermen’s Alliance is dedicated to promoting local seafood, highlighting underutilized species that are plentiful in the Cape’s waters, and connecting the community to the fishermen who harvest this seafood.

Through programs like Meet the Fleet, Pier to Plate, and other community outreach efforts, we have come across an abundance of talented chefs who are passionate about choosing local seafood. They have been willing to share recipes through events, recipe card projects, and tastings. The cookbook provides inspiration and celebrates local seafood through a variety of recipes for appetizers, chowders, stews, and main courses. Cookbooks are available in select stores as well as in our online merchandise store.

Pier Host Program

The popular Pier Host Program at the Chatham Fish Pier started off the 2021 summer season with sunny skies, boats landing their fish, and inquisitive visitors. Our gregarious pier hosts, who are all retired fishermen, have been answering fishy questions for 15 years as part of this community education and outreach program. We are thankful to our hosts last year: Ken Eldredge and Mike Anderson who have been hosting since the start of the program in 2006, and Rick Miszkin who joined the program five years ago. This program engages thousands of visitors each summer and offers hosts opportunities to share their stories about their on-the-water experiences as well as their vast knowledge of the local marine life and fishing industry.
HADDOCK CHOWDER CELEBRATIONS

Thank you to everyone who came to support our Small Boats, Big Taste Haddock Chowder Program on Saturday, July 1. We met with more than 100 people outside the Captain Harding House for our summer kickoff celebration, live music, and chowder celebration. All guests who attended were able to go home with Small Boats, Big Taste Haddock Chowder to try at home. It was wonderful to be back together for in-person gatherings on a beautiful summer evening.

We celebrated Fishermen’s Alliance 30th Anniversary—and our loyal supporters—at an open house event in November. Event highlights included chowder tastings and being able to purchase a case to take home or share with friends and family. All proceeds from the chowder went to support the work we do with regional food banks.

ASICS FALMOUTH ROAD RACE

For the fourth consecutive year, Fishermen’s Alliance was proud to participate in the Asics Falmouth Road Race as part of the Number for Nonprofits program.

A huge congratulations and thank you to our amazing #fishrunfalmouth runners who crossed their finish lines at home and in Falmouth for this iconic 7-mile race: Rich Bryant, Holly Buddensee, Tarryn Christensen, Benjamin Greenspan, Monica Heuer, Brigid Krug, Kathryn Mandalakis, Gregory Mansbach, Katie McEachern, Heather Morin, Molly Ogren, Brendon Parker, Bryan Ruez, Nancy Ruez and Stephanie Sykes. We are so appreciative of everyone’s commitment and fundraising efforts. The team collectively raised $14,020! Thank you to all our race supporters!

MEET THE FLEET

For the past decade these well-loved events have been bringing fishermen, chefs, and the community together to deepen the appreciation for fresh local seafood. Last year we hosted Meet the Fleet virtually so everyone could participate from the comfort of home while still having the opportunity to learn about local fisheries and have fun seafood tastings.

Thank you to Alex Hay from Wellfleet Shellfish Company who joined us last March and led a Meet the Fleet cooking class on the surf clam. Prior to the event, the 40 participants picked up a Fishermen’s Alliance cooler bag from our office. It contained all the ingredients needed, including a shellfish knife and recipe. Participants logged on to Zoom to hear about the surf clam and how it is harvested. They also got a lesson on how to open the clams with their new knife. Attendees sent us the photos of their culinary creations—delicious stuffed clams (a.k.a. “stuffies”).

Last summer we were pleased to celebrate 20 years of the Hookers Ball, as well as the 30th anniversary of Fishermen’s Alliance on Saturday, August 7. Although we all missed the traditional large event under the big white tent, our guests had a great evening under the small white tent in front of the Captain Harding House in Chatham. Thank you to everyone who joined us, whether in-person or at home for this hybrid event. More than 75 people picked up clambakes to go with their “Ball in a Box” to host their own small gatherings, and 110 guests joined us in-person for a clambake, live music, auction, presentation and more. With the generous support of all who participated, more than $153,000 was raised.
The following individuals, foundations, businesses, organizations, and collaborators supported the Fishermen’s Alliance in 2021.
We acknowledge and greatly appreciate those whose gifts help to uphold the heritage of commercial fishing, protect our ecosystem, and create a better future for Cape Cod.
